Resources

Key Terms

User will be able to click on sub-section and it will scroll them down the same page to section they have clicked on

Right now, I am envisioning the Resources for each section to just be another section, but could also work better as a side column like the terms if space permits.

Header can be pretty simple- Title in large font, followed by subsections horizontally. Footer can include Grinnell logo/info- not sure if should be CLS or just College info (address, phone number)

Glossary of Terms

Definitions go here-alphabetical order, dictionary style (Term-defintion)

Users will see key terms on a side column in each of 6 pages, but then when they click, it leads back to this page (glossary)??

Search by Topic

(i.e. equity, reflection, publishing...)

When users get to this page, they should be able to type in words that would then match resources, pages, terms that exist on the website and display results for user to explore
